Volume 11 - Trail #898

HASH #898

HARES: Womb Broom, Dr. Stranglove & Company

TRAIL REPORT

This could have been an Ironman Hash, I feel SO tough!!! We started at the Van Lines lot in Springfield. Big crowd, lots of reunions with our Cardiff pukers returning. Father Abraham was led by GRANNY BOULDERS and LETS MAKE A DEAL (although, we did get a pre-empted a lot by FLYING BURITO). GAY SHIP LOLLIPOP tried to pretend he was also a Cardiff returnee, but he just had better things to do recently. There were two trails, one for walkers and one for runners, two different colors of hash, pink for the walkers (implying wussy, maybe?) and white for the runners. BURITO had instructions and off the walkers went. Runners had been forewarned that the runners trail was stroller hostile, lots of shaggy, etc, etc, etc. The walkers found the first bypass and met up with the runners trail early on. Somehow, however, the second (and most important) bypass was BYPASSED by ALL the walkers. This was bad news for RUTRO who had JUST MARK in a stroller. You'd think BLANK CHEACK would have been looking out for them and come out looking after an hour or two, but NOOOOOOO! Fortunately, WOMB BROOM waited at the water check and helped get the stroller to friendlier ground and even offered rides back, but we were TOUGH (not to mention, where would the stroller go in an RX8?) and off we went to finish the trail. If only we had known that the last cliff could have been bypassed it wouldn't have been quite the struggle, oh well, think of the extra calories we burned. Needless to say we missed most of the circle, so here are the notes I found from LULU for what they're worth. ANDHOSHERBUSH was cited for vacuum packing the underwear that went with last week's hashit. BURNT SOX won the fashion award, WHAT WAS THAT ABOUT?!!?? Grranimals or Pooh Bear matching separates, woohoooo!!.. The Midolmen (BUSHMASTER and CROSSHAIRS) came in second with coordinated outfits. SCHWEINCHEN DICK, VOMINATRIX, and SHELLACKING THE BISHOP were shunned for doing St. Catherine last week (the 50k that is). DUAL AIRBAGS was shamed for renting a car in London, driving 50ft, peeing her pants from fear, and returning the car. There was one naming. JUST PAM, a comptroller for the French Nuclear Agency, was named LA WHORE DE FRANCE and hotly booed for her dastardly affiliation. Just when we thought it was time to go, SLIPKNOT came in to a roar of applause and a very sad rendition of Swing Lo...

DANGEROULSY CLOSE made some great flyers for hashbawling, and we had a pretty good turnout. Many hashers were sporting their new hashbawling shirts. Good thing we looked good, because we suck at bowling (except for POOPDECK, he should have to bowl left-handed, over 200 is UNACCEPTABLE). I think we had more drinkers than bowlers, but maybe that's a good thing. Till next time...

ALTERNATIVE TRAIL REPORT

You know, sometimes when you are right you are right... and this week, LET'S MAKE A DEAL is RIGHT!! Walkers should all be proud to have finished last week's Ironman Walker's trail! I'm not complaining... the trail itself was fun, but it was SO long due to having missed the Walker/Runner split! We walked and we walked, and we walked some more! J-WALKER from Pittsburgh HHH joined us and he said, "I don't think I've walked this far in years!" Usually PH3 does not have a Walker/Runner split and they don't even usually plan a short-cut for the Walkers. So as you can guess, JWALKER and any other folks wanting to walk don't actually do very many trails with PH3! I guess we should consider ourselves lucky that our Hares plan accordingly. Now, back to trail comments:

Just after walking away from Father Abe, Walkers were instructed to cross a parking lot and let all the runners get past. We did the big fake-out, then we reversed direction and headed into the woods just like the runners had. BUT, we cut sharp left and trekked off the dirt path through a dense treed area on a short-cut. We caught back onto trail fairly soon just as the runners were rounding a curve... trails merged and we were all following the same flour. Walkers of course being a bit slower were soon separated from the runners... no matter, we like doing trail and solving checks. We stayed in the woods on nice dirt paths until we came to a creek... into the water we went. There was no avoiding it. Down the creek we went. I was with BURITO, BSP, RED SNAPPER and JWALKER with HOT LEGS and SCREWS EVERYBODY just up ahead. ("head?" who said "head?") BSP, BURITO and JW kept trying to avoid the creek by walking up along the bank... didn't work... they soon realized they had to walk in the water to keep on trail... eventually, SCREWS EVERYBODY and HOT LEGS, who were leading our mini-pack went up a hill instead of going through a tunnel under a neighborhood street... the rest of us followed and GREAT, it was the correct direction. We encountered WOMB BROOM who told us we'd missed the second split, but we kept going. Too bad WB didn't give us a shortcut from that point! Through the neighborhood we went, with BURITO stopping and begging one civilian for some water from his hose. Seems BURITO wanted to wash off PI residue that he may have gotten on his legs. What he didn't realize what that the civilian was draining his radiator so BURITO walked through much and guck and who knows what else to get to the hose! Back into the woods we went, up and down neat hills and eventually we came to a gravel road. BURITO urged me to stay straight on the road, but then he called from the woods and said I should join him and BSP on trail... too bad I listened. If I'd have stayed on the gravel road, I would have ended sooner and NOT had to trapse though the briars and long tall grasses near the end. JWALKER got suckered too as he followed me to catch up with BURITO and BSP... seems RED SNAPPER had joined HOT LEGS and SCREWS EVERYBODY much earlier and they'd gotten way out ahead... we didn't see them again until we arrived at Circle. BSP was getting real worried about not being at the end to do the hash books and the Circle sheet. GRANNY picked up the slack when it was obvious that the Walkers weren't going to be "in" for a LONG time... SO, finally we all reached the end; hot and sweaty, sticky and soaked, cold beverages were had by all! JWALKER indicated he'd had fun, but was disappointed that the Habs were not there selling so he could buy a new MVH3 shirt and have something dry and clean to change into! ON-ON,

~DangeRously Close (with ad-libs from JWalker)

NOTE: JWALKER reports best part of the day was walk through the woods and Hashbowling! YES, after stating several times that he had not bowled in years and was just there to drink, JWALKER got caught up in the fun and played a game!
